Upon completion of the C++ Programming certificate, the graduate should be able to:

- Analyze the technical needs of end-users
- Design a program in C++ to meet end-user requirements
- Develop a program that integrates with a relational database
- Develop a program that incorporates Object-Orientated programming methodologies